NATO and climate change

Iván Giménez Chueca

NATO have been working on environmental aspects linked to defense for fifty years. What threats does climate change represent, according to the Alliance? Where, how and with what consequences does it affect international security? Do you know what the Green Defense Framework is? The keys in this video of less than two minutes.

With the support of:

This publication has been co-financed by NATO Public Diplomacy Division.

Fecha de creación
26 noviembre, 2019